Council to investigate reservoir cracking

By Lynne Locke

Upland City Council has called a special meeting for 7 p.m. Monday to discuss the newly constructed 17th Street reservoir with the designer and contractor.

The 7.5 million-gallon reservoir, above ground at 17th Street west of Benson Avenue, is one of two funded through a $2.5 million bond issue approved by Upland voters in 1974.

Upland city officials have refused acceptance of the new reservoir because of extensive cracking on the roof which could allow water to seep into the structure, weakening the roof reinforcement.

City Attorney Donald Maroney noted that "interminable sessions" with designers Engineering Science Inc. of Arcadia and contractor J. Putnam Henck of San Bernardino have not revealed who is to blame for the cracking or who will pay for necessary repairs.

"We have a reservoir and it's filled, but we have a job we didn't bargain for," Maroney said and called the reservoir "just a series of bird baths with everything that goes into bird baths."

Maroney noted he hasn't been able to find "too much fault" with the contractor who apparently "did what the (design) specifications said," but added he is not satisfied with answers from the structural engineers.

Careful organization, warm caring combined

Center provides quality child care

By Lynne Locke

The Chaffey College Children's Center combines careful organization with warm caring to provide quality child care for preschool children of Chaffey College students.

The center "is designed to create an environment of trust where people can grow emotionally, intellectually, socially and physically," according to the center's brochure.

Coordinator Patricia "Pat" Pruden Mohr commented the center's philosophy of learning is not limited to the preschoolers.

Teaching and learning is a reciprocal, on-going exchange, she said and added, "If anyone (including staff members) gets to the point of thinking they don't have anything more to learn, it's time to leave."

The center's program helps the young children develop social skills of working together in groups as well as intellectual skills. Some parents expect the center to have formal "sit-down" learning sessions, Pat said and added, play is really a child's work. Everything a very young child does is a learning experience."

One recent day some 20 children were rolling and cutting out clay cookies, listening to a story through earphones, stacking blocks, playing with dolls, coloring pictures of themselves, and making "snow" pictures.

After lunch (provided by the center), "everyone goes to sleep," Pat said and added, "That in itself is a process."

The center staff makes special plans for children with different needs. Those without fathers at home may receive special attention from a male staff member. Younger children who are frightened in the larger classroom have a more enclosed section where they can play in smaller groups.

Parents also learn through the center's program, Pat said and noted many young parents have a particularly hard time raising children because they don't have parents, grandparents and other relatives nearby to help and teach them.

Single parents especially have "incredible pressures" in raising children while attending school, she said, noting 60 per cent of the parents served by the center are women raising children by themselves.

Parents learn about child raising by working in the center two hours every other week as well as attending small group parent seminars once a month.

An important goal of the center is to be "supportive to nontraditional students," according to Pat who added the center offers "a hand up for those who want to develop skills and get off welfare."

The center itself is designed to provide as much variety as possible in staff and participants. Pat said the staff is planned to include both

County leash law

The Public Health Department of San Bernardino County will start enforcement measures of the county's "lease" law starting Feb. 1, according to Curtis Martin, chief animal control officer. The county's dog population is estimated at 80,000 and growing rapidly. Of this number 10-12 per cent are considered stray or loose dogs. Public health officials are concerned with the widespread problem of unleashed, free-roaming dogs, because they pose a serious health threat to human beings and other animals.

The new law requires all dogs not on the enclosed property of their owners to be restrained by a leash or under immediate command control. Dog owners who fail to comply with the ordinance will be issued a citation. The maximum penalty is a $500 fine or 100 days in jail or both. Enforcement of the leash law is the responsibility of 27 animal control officers. In addition a specialized Patrol and Enforcement Team (PET), consisting of four officers and four fully equipped vehicles, will patrol high-density areas where numerous violations of the law have occurred. Officers will attempt to return licensed stray animals to their owners. If owners are not at home, the dogs will be impounded at shelters up to two weeks. Impound fees are $8, plus a daily charge depending on the shelter. Unlicensed dogs will be taken to shelters and held for 72 hours before they are "disposed of in a humane manner."

According to Martin, "If dog owners vaccinated, licensed and restrained their dogs, a host of community problems could be eliminated. For instance itinerant, unvaccinated dogs that come in contact with rabid small game or bats present a potential source of rabies. Stray or unattended dogs increase the risk of dog bites, dog packs, property damage, livestock damage, highway accidents, and irritations to the public. These dogs are also subject to breeding without control, thereby increasing the unwanted dog population." Last year there were more than 3,000 reported dog bites and 42,000 complaints registered with the county's animal control office.

Set your thermostat at 68° instead of 72° and save! If you're in the habit of keeping your thermostat at 72° you're wasting money.

Because with a slight flick of the wrist to the left, you can move the needle to 68°. And move your heating costs about 28% lower.

There are other ways to lower heating costs, too.

Properly insulate your attic. With proper insulation you can reduce heating costs substantially. You'll also save on air conditioning costs. Based on today's prices, properly insulating an attic in a typical house runs between $200 and $300.

And what better place to invest your money than in your own home? It's a sensible long-term investment. So call an insulation contractor.

Some more ways to lower heating costs and save energy. Lower your heat setting or turn it off when you're away from home. However, in areas where freezing may occur, a 40° thermostat setting is advisable.

Weather-strip your doors and windows. Close your draperies and curtains to keep heat in. Keep the fireplace damper closed as well as vents in rooms not being used. Make sure your filters are clean. Maybe they even need replacing.

Dirty return-air grilles and warm air ducts can cost you, too. And if you have electric radiant heating it will be worth your while when you are home to turn off thermostats in rooms not being used.

Heroin maintenance idea draws criticism

"If a clinic tried going into a heroin maintenance program, it would attract every heroin addict for miles around."

Myron Horn, program manager for the San Bernardino County Department of Mental Health's Methadone Maintenance Clinic, had no argument with the popularity of a heroin maintenance program.

His only objection was that it wouldn't work.

Horn was responding to a recent grand jury suggestion that heroin be used instead of methadone in county maintenance program for drug abusers. The report came out of San Diego last July.

"Methadone isn't a drug of choice for heroin addicts," Horn said. "They don't get the highs they get with heroin. It's desirability on the streets is low."

"Obviously, heroin is a drug of choice. The potential for heroin diversion to the streets would be phenomenal."

Horn added that because of the diversion problem, it would be impossible to allow "take-homes" in the program.

"This would mean that an addict on maintenance would have to show up at the clinic every four to six hours for his medication."

Under the present program, addicts who are doing well are allowed take-home doses of medication. One does of methadone will last 24 to 36 hours.

"If an addict has been doing well and wants to go out of town for the weekend, we can give him two doses — enough to last until he gets back on Monday morning."

Methadone is taken orally. Heroin would have to be injected, and the addict would have to receive medication every four to six hours.

"Take-homes under this type of system would be impossible; consequently, it would literally be impossible for the addict to lead any kind of normal life."

A major objective of the maintenance program, according to Horn, is to bring the addict's life into a semblance of normality.

"We want him to work and play, raise his family ... become an active productive member of his community. With methadone, this is possible. With heroin, it wouldn't be."

"I just can't picture an addict's boss telling him to go take his heroin break once or twice a day."

One of the points raised by the grand jury was that methadone withdrawal is worse than heroin withdrawal.

"Not true," Horn said. "It takes longer because it lasts longer. The symptoms are basically the same."

He added that the effect of methadone begins slowly and is slow to drop. It is the characteristic that allows the client to stay relatively stable over a 24- to 36-hour period.

Heroin has a rapid onset and a rapid drop. The client would always be in a state of flux."

Horn added that the grand jury also recommended home visits to all

QUESTION: Are there any city ordinances that are outdated? J.A.

ANSWER: Yes. Here is one.

Upon the approach of any fire apparatus toward any car track, all street cars traveling along or upon such track near where any such apparatus is being operated, shall immediately stop until such fire apparatus shall have crossed such car track or until the conductor shall have determined that such department will not be disengaged or endangered in any way by the moving of such cars.

QUESTION: Can you tell me duties of the fire engineer? M.S.

ANSWER: The Fire Department has five very capable young men as fire engineers: Chuck Gerard, Dick Coale, Jay Rowberry, Norman Taylor and Bob Benzien. Under general supervision they drive a fire engine to and from fires and drills; position pumper as directed and regulate water pressure from a pumper at fires in accordance with principles of hydraulics and directions from superior officers; check motorized apparatus for proper operation and perform minor maintenance; clean, polish and service equipment; prepare reports on operation of apparatus; give instruction on the operation of apparatus to reserves and fire fighters; participate in the inspection of businesses and industries for fire hazards and compliance with fire codes; assist in the cleaning and maintenance of a fire station; administer first aid to injured persons; conduct tours of a fire station and provide information on fire prevention techniques, and perform duties of a fire fighter at the scene of a fire as directed.

New lab

The John B. Ellena and Arless Ellena Department of Respiratory Care at San Antonio Community Hospital has recently added an automated pulmonary function laboratory to its department.

The computerized pulmonary function system, which cost $25,500, allows physicians to have test results seconds after testing patients for obstructive pulmonary disease. These tests determine how much of a diseased lung can be surgically removed.

Ray Knittle, supervisor of the pulmonary laboratory, said the old manually given tests took about 45 minutes long while this new computer provides accurate results in seconds.

Dr. Fouad Tawadrous, director of the respiratory therapy department, estimates that six patients a day will benefit from the new system. A technician operates the system with a simple turn-key which sets the computer for maximal efficiency and effectiveness in pulmonary function testing.

Sciatica—A Painful Experience for Anyone

By Dr. Wes Helzer, D.C.

Sciatica, often mistakenly referred to as a disease, is actually a symptom of nerve pressure or an irritation of the sciatic nerve caused by a physical injury, malformation, or disease.

Since the sciatic nerve is the largest and longest nerve in the human body, it is not surprising that many authorities consider it the most susceptible to injury.

While sciatica can occur in either sex, seventy-two per cent of its victims are men.

Whether caused by over-exertion, a fall down a stairway, or a kick from a mule, the result is the same...pain.

The pain may be only minor in its first stages, or it may be so crippling and intense as to make strong athletes weep. Pain may appear anywhere in the region of the sciatic nerve, from the low back down to the feet.

Applying heat or cold to the painful area, or gulping pain-killing drugs might bring temporary relief at best. But the problem will remain.

As a specialist in nerves and spinal disorders, the modern Doctor of Chiropractic knows that nerve interference in the low back is the actual cause of the problem. His training and experience enable him to treat the cause, not just administer temporary measures aimed at relieving the symptoms. With the nerve interference eliminated, the sciatic nerve can once again function properly, eliminating the pain and discomfort naturally from within.

Industrial arts core at UHS

The Industrial Arts Core Program, offered for the first time this year by the Upland High School Industrial Arts Department, has been initiated for the purpose of exposing freshmen students with an interest in trade skills to various shop classes and relating those skills to vocational possibilities.

The core program is divided into four quarter courses. The careers section of the core exposes students to the vocational opportunities available in the industrial world and the knowledge and skills necessary for those vocations. This section is taught by Andrew Sandquist and works in close conjunction with the Upland High Career Center.

The introduction to electronics portion, taught by Ken Sullivan, fulfills a long-felt need by the department to encourage more students to try electronics, whereas in previous years a fear of the mathematics involved and the difficulty of the course has kept enrollment in electronics courses to a minimum. Exposure to electronics in the Core Program also enables students with little ability or those who are not willing to put forth the effort to see what it's all about before embarking on a full electronics program.

Steven Lingeneiter teaches the small engines section of the core. This section serves as an introduction to power mechanics and auto shop.

The shop drawing segment is taught by Paul White. Its purpose is to teach the students the language of mechanical drawing.

Although this is its first year in the curriculum, the Industrial Arts Core Program accommodates approximately 120 students and has met with excellent student response.

Interior decorating

For the many new homeowners in Upland, the Upland Recreation Department and Chaffey College are jointly offering a class in interior decoration.

The free course is held Wednesdays from 1 to 4 p.m. in the recreation annex, 433 N. Second Ave. The course is still open.

Penny Marino, the instructor, will concentrate on design principles and color usage for home interiors. Mrs. Marino will also discuss window and wall treatments and a digest of furniture styles.

Montclair art, craft class

There are still openings in the adult arts and crafts class, which meets Thursdays in the Montclair Recreation Department shuffleboard room from 1 to 3 p.m.

The class is cosponsored by the Montclair Recreation Department and Chaffey College. There is no fee or pre-registration.

Mrs. Shirley Heir is the instructor.

Ralphs Super 99¢

Fresh Crab Sale

The Consumer Line
by Julie Grayson

Getting what you want at reasonable prices is what supermarket shopping is all about. That's why I'm happy to say that Ralphs is repeating its sale on fresh, whole, fully-cooked Dungeness Crab this year. Last year's sale proved extremely popular with shoppers.

I'm told that this year's catch of Dungeness Crab from the North Pacific is especially meaty and flavorful, and will be offered pre-cleaned or not pre-cleaned, to suit your wishes. I know from my own experience that it is a tremendous opportunity to serve your family and guests a delicious seafood treat at Ralphs super low price of .99 lb. and 1.29 lb. pre-cleaned. I also hope you'll take advantage of the free recipe suggestions from Ralphs on ways to clean and prepare Dungeness Crab. If I can be of help to you, please call me with your questions, comments or suggestions. I'm here to help.

WPA to perform

The Drama Department of California State Polytechnic University, Pomona, will present the WPA (Working Professional Actors), a Hollywood-based professional theater company, in "Angels of the Love Affair," a trio of plays on ever-changing male-female relationships, 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in the University's studio theater. A discussion of the program will follow the performance.

The first two plays are Murray Schisgal's "The Tiger" and "The Typists," a pair of comedies which, according to Henry Hoffman, WPA director, deal with people "who live in the twilight of the old women now," Hoffman said.

"The Tiger" dramatizes the efforts of a male to force his will on a female he has abducted. "The Typists" is a story of a couple working in an office. They start at 20 and age to 80. Although the scene never changes, their lives do. The conflict between the incompatibility of the space and the shifting unrealized feelings create the tension of the play.

The third and most prominent piece of the program is a collage of the late Anne Sexton's "The Awful Rowing Toward God," read by Hoffman. Sexton, a Pulitzer Prize winning poet, published eight volumes of poetry, was the first woman to have been admitted to the Royal Society of Literature in London. She committed suicide in 1974.

The selections reflect Ms. Sexton's views on marriage, divorce, children and suicide.

"She is among our most brilliant and original American poets," said Hoffman. "The title of our presentation comes from her 'Angels of the love affair' do you know that other/the dark one/that other me?"

"Our rationale for putting these pieces together is to show the variety of ways people address themselves to the issue of relationships. We hope the discussion afterwards will stimulate more ideas about what is happening to men and women now," Hoffman said.

The WPA is a group of actors, directors and writers committed to searching for better techniques of acting and communicating and to discovering ways to express their own feelings about the developments in male/female relationships.

Hoffman has acted with many of the country's foremost theater companies, including the Mark Taper Forum Lab; and most recently, opposite Eileen Atkins in "Duchess of Malfi" at the Mark Taper Forum. He is a poet, a Fulbright Scholar and in addition to his directing of WPA, he and Taper Lab director Vickie Rue are preparing a production of "Hamlet" to be presented in Los Angeles this spring.

Also in the cast of the Cal

Poly presentation is Ruth Silveira who has performed prominently in San Diego's Old Globe Theatre, Shakespeare festivals, and the Taper Lab and recently played in the Stacy Keach production of "Six Characters in Search of an Author" on KCET's Hollywood Television Theatre. He is soon to be seen in the Robert Altman film, "Three Women."

Children's musical comedy to play

The children's musical comedy "The Cat in the Castle" will be presented 2 p.m. Saturday in the Citrus College Auditorium.

Presented by the Junior Programs of California Inc., the show has received widespread recognition, including a high recommendation by NBC critic John Barber.

The New York Times also praised the drama and described it as "one of the longest-running children's shows in town and justifiably so."

The tale by Bill Solly is about a pair of cats, Hugo and Mimi, who together invade a castle where wicked Queen Gloria keeps a pterodactyl, Ptommy. Ptommy guards against the creatures because the queen is allergic to them.

Also in the cast of the Cal

people into french-fried potatoes. Other characters include Ham-Hamish, the harried Royal Cat-Catcher; a bewildered peasant and a fogbound Guard of the Moat.

Songs include "If I Could Be Queen," "Why the Queen Hates Cats" and "It's a Ding-Dong Day!"

The cast features Tim Bowman, Christian Erickson, Tom Farrell, Monica Grignon, Claudia Neely and Paul Ratkevick, with Glen Kelly at the piano.

A special section for children with impaired hearing is provided with Barbara Cope interpreting.

Tickets $1 may be purchased at the Citrus College Auditorium box office now and before the show.

Arrow to challenge popular Monzas

Winternationals underway

When Don "Snake" Prudhomme decided two years ago to incorporate the Chevrolet Monza body style in his Funny Car effort, one would have thought there was a 16 sale at McDonald's Dept. Store in Ontario.

Suddenly everyone involved in Funny Car drag racing HAD to have a Monza body. It was a dark day for originality — a classic example of the "follow the leader" syndrome.

So when Prudhomme announced this year that he would debut a new Plymouth Arrow at the Winternationals (Jan. 27-30), one could have realistically expected the Funny Car pits to look like a Chrysler motors showroom.

But that won't be the case.

In fact, the only other Arrow expected at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds is that belonging to 1974 World champ Shirl Greer of Warner Robins, Ga.

The remainder of the Funny Car field will be outfitted in a variety of plastic suits — 13 different body styles ranging from the still popular Monzas and Mustangs to Corvettes and Camaros.

Among those in the Mustang camp are '74 Nationals champ Raymond Beadle of Dallas ("Blue Max"), John Lombardo of Sherman Oaks and John White of Channelview, Tex. Monza drivers include Eddie Pauling of Phoenix, '76 Nationals winner Gary Burdin of Stanton and Ron Colson of Chicago ("Hawaiian"), while both Jerry Boldenow of Minneapolis and Tom "Mongoose" McEwen of Fountain Valley will drive Corvettes.

Other body styles and prominent drivers beneath them are Camaro (Dale Emery, Billy Meyer), Vega (Rob Bruins and the Bardahl "Green Elephant"), Dodge Dart (Ed McCulloch, Phil Castrovino, Tom Prock and Pat Foster), Plymouth Satellite (Dale Armstrong), Dodge Charger (Tommy Ivo), Plymouth Duster (John Collins), Olds Starfire (Bob Pickett), Buick Skyhawk (Harlan Thompson) and Pontiac Trans Am (Gordie Bonin and Dale Pulde).

For the moment, then, variety is the spice for the Funny Car legions. But should one particular make dominate in the opener, it'll be a different story by mid-season.

Prudhomme himself established that trend when, in 1975, he abandoned a new Vega because he didn't like the aerodynamics. Now, it seems, everyone would rather switch than fight.

Shirley Muldowney's final tune-up for the 17th annual NHRA Winternationals (Jan. 27-30 at the LA County Fairgrounds, Pomona, Calif.) wasn't all bad. The Mt. Clemens, Mich., pro had a test time of 5.78 seconds with speeds of 250.26 miles per hour and 252.10 MPH — the latter an all-time drag racing best — in competition at Beeline Dragway, Phoenix, Ariz.

in NHRA championship competition, the lady's best is 249.30 m.p.h. established last October in the Winston World Finals at Ontario Motor Speedway. Based on her Phoenix performance, she is now heavily favored to shatter the official NHRA mark of 250.69 set by Don "Big Daddy" Garlitz at Ontario during the 1975 World Finals.

Shirley was not the only driver whose Phoenix speeds bordered on the incredible. Lee Hunter, the two-time defending Southwest Division Pro Stock champion from Irvine, pushed his Ford Mustang II to a speed of 160.14, eclipsing the previous best ever mark of 158.63 established last year by Warren Johnson of Fridley, Minn.

Kitty O'Neil of Fillmore, who recently established a new world land speed record for women of 512.706 miles per hour, will be Grand Marshall of the Winternationals. She set the record Dec. 6, 1976 at the controls of Bill Fredrick's "SMI Motivator" rocket car on the Alvord Ry Lake in southeastern Oregon.

"SMI Motivator" is also the name of a new Chevrolet Camaro Funny Car to be debuted at the Winternationals by Billy Meyer of Waco, Texas.

WINTERNATIONALS — Shirl Greer has switched mounts, so to speak, but the veteran from Warner Robins, Georgia, figures to be a chief challenger to Don "Snake" Prudhomme along the National Hot Rod Association trail as it heads to the Winston World Finals in October at Ontario Motor Speedway. Both will have Plymouth Arrows at the Winternationals today through Sunday at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds in Pomona.

"Waco Willie" is making a comeback at age 22. The Golden Knights, will perform this year at five NHRA national events, beginning with the Gatornationals at Gainesville, Fla., March 10-13. The Golden Knights will also be part of the program precision parachute team, at the Winston World Finals, Oct. 7-9, at Ontario.

Ironically, he was away from the sport almost two years because of his own plans to drive the rocket car in a land speed record attempt.

It takes 22 seconds to steal CB rig

A crafty "chicken snatcher" can rip off a mobile CB rig in precisely 22 seconds, according to one New Yorker who declined to say how he knew.

A police captain in Michigan estimates that the average life of a CB radio in a car is just 28 days.

In one Southwest city the lifespan of a car unit is even shorter — 16 days.

"The theft of CB auto radio transceivers has become the biggest single object of larceny in the U.S. today," says Wilbur Rykert, executive director of the National Crime Prevention Association in Washington, D.C.

The "chicken snatchers" or "midnight shoppers," as thieves are known in CB lingo, have found a lucrative black market for radios, just as they did for auto tape players a few years ago.

"There is a tremendous black market for CB radios," says Bill Kanner, editor of CB World magazine. "There are flea markets on Long Island and law enforcement officers and insurance companies expect even more thefts with the coming on the market of the new 40-channel sets.

The thievery has already led to higher insurance costs for CB operators in some areas.

Since it's basically unfair to increase the insurance rates of auto owners without radios to cover the CB losses, in some states, such as Texas, the CBR now must pay extra.

Unitarian Society

"Echoes from Nairobi" will be the subject of guest speaker Dr. G. Merrill Lenox 10:30 a.m. Sunday at the Unitarian Society of Pomona Valley, 9185 Monte Vista, Montclair. He will report on social, political and religious conditions in East Africa and give an eye-witness story on the Fifth Assembly of the World Council of Churches, held in Nairobi, Kenya, with comments upon the implications of that assembly for other religious groups.

A Baptist minister, Dr. Lenox served 18 years on the General Board of the National Council of Churches. After his retirement to Claremont, he served five years as executive director of the Pomona Valley Council of Churches. Currently he conducts a radio program, "Religion in Action," on KKAR.

Lecture

Willingness to view our daily experience from a spiritual standpoint enables us to change our lives for the good. William Milford Correll comes back again and again to this theme in a Christian Science lecture he will give 8 p.m. Feb. 3 in Ontario.

Only as we "spiritualize our thinking" do we become aware that God does indeed show us the human footprints we must take to solve the everyday problems that confront and confound us, explained Correll. To willingly follow this direction often means giving up willful plans for ourselves, establishing goals that go beyond narrow, self-interest, and setting high ethical and moral standards.

Speaking from his long experience in Christian healing, in which he has dealt with all sorts of human problems, Correll said "When we learn of the infinite nature of God, and the boundless love which is the source of all good, then our lives take on a diviner sense and a more unlimited aspect."

Correll will give the talk on behalf of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Ontario, 1429 N. Euclid Ave. A life-long Christian Scientist, Correll entered the full time healing ministry of his church in 1946 after working for some years in the business world. From 1965 to 1970 he was associate editor of the Christian Science religious periodicals. From 1971 to 1974 he served as first reader of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

New Pastors

Members of the First Brethren Church of La Verne, 2600 White Ave., have announced the calling of Donald Carter as pastor and David Belcher as associate pastor. Church members voted unanimously to call these two for a three-year period.

Carter was born in Manteca, California. He attended Polytechnical High School in Long Beach. He received his bachelor of arts degree at Ashland College, Ashland, Ohio. He holds a bachelor of theology degree from Ashland Theological Seminary. He obtained a master of divinity degree from Grace Theological Seminary, Winona Lake, Indiana. Carter is also a graduate of Chaplain School, United States Army, and served as a chaplain in the Army, both overseas and in the United States, 1943-1945. He has been a pastor of Brethren churches 1934-1943 and since 1965. He is also an instructor of practical theology at Talbot Theological Seminary. He is presently a member of the board of trustees for Grace Schools, Winona Lake, Indiana and a member of the ministerial examining board for the Southern California - Arizona District Conference of Brethren Churches.

Belcher was born in Schenectady, New York. He spent two years in East Africa and attended school one year in Beirut, Lebanon. He is a 1970 graduate of Pomona High School and obtained a bachelor of science degree from California State Polytechnic University, Pomona, in 1973, majoring in microbiology. Belcher was a research chemist at Kaiser Steel for the past three years. He will be attending Talbot Theological Seminary, La Mirada. He and his wife Denise reside in La Verne.

Sermon series

Dr. James L. Watson, pastor of the Diamond Bar Congregational Church, has announced the beginning of a sermon series on "The Parables of Jesus."

"The parables are the most representative materials of the teachings of Jesus that we have in the New Testament," said a church spokesperson. "In Jesus' day this method of teaching by stories was commonly used by Jewish religious teachers. So it is hardly surprising that most of the teaching of Jesus is preserved for us in parable form."

Some 39 parables told by Jesus will be dealt with during the series which will take most of the year to complete. When the series is finished, an individual who has heard these sermons will have a comprehensive view of the beliefs Jesus represented.

The schedule leading up to the beginning of Lent is as follows:

— Jan. 30, "The Mustard Seed," Mark 4:30-32;
Feb. 6, "The Budding Fig Tree," Mark 13:28f, Matthew 24:32f, Luke 21:29-31;
— Feb. 13, "The Doorkeeper," Mark 13:31-37, Luke 12:35-38;
— Feb. 20, "Going Before The Judge," Matthew 5:25, Luke 12:58f.

Worship services at the church, Diamond Bar Boulevard and Pathfinder Road, are held 8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Sunday school is at 9:45 a.m. The community is invited.

Pastor, family guests of honor

Pastor Jerry Sorensen and his family were guests of honor at a farewell party Saturday at the Covina Seventh-day Adventist Church social hall.

Because the Sorensens are musically inclined (Sorensen having performed professionally prior to his conversion and call to the ministry) the evenings entertainment was mostly musical, with sing-alongs and rounds.

"A love gift of remembrance from the church members was presented to Pastor and Mrs. Sorensen with a $100 farewell, but with words of encouragement as he assumes his new duties as pastor of the 1,300-member Glendale City Adventist Church," said a church spokeswoman.

The family will continue to occupy the parsonage in San Dimas until Covina's new pastor arrives.

Pastor Bob O'Dell from San Gabriel, who has been serving the church and community in Bible study ministry for the past year, remains as "interim pastor," assisted by student minister Bill Shull and head elder Alan Johlman.

The sermon Saturday will be delivered by Shull while Sorensen, O'Dell and Johlman attend a conferencewide doctors' and ministers' retreat at Coronado.

You and Your Pet

Rodents for pets

By Robert L. Stear, D.V.M.

Manager of

Veterinary Services

Norden Laboratories

Guinea pigs and hamsters are very popular pets with children. They are inexpensive, clean and easy to care for.

The guinea pig is the larger of the two and is most active during the daytime. An alert, docile animal about eight inches long that comes in short and long-haired varieties, the guinea pig has a characteristic low whistle and no tail.

Hamsters are less than half the size of guinea pigs. They are most active at night and have short, stumpy tails. They are best known for their habit of stuffing their expandable cheek pouches with food, and then storing the food away under bedding. New hamster owners sometimes become fearful when they see their pet's face swollen to double its normal size. However, as soon as the hamster feels no one is watching, it will empty the contents of the pouches in a corner of the cage, and the "mumps" rapidly disappear.

Both hamsters and guinea pigs will thrive on commercially pelleted rodent chow supplemented twice a week by fruit, vegetables or greens. Dry dog food will serve as an acceptable temporary pellet substitute. Diets composed entirely of mixed bird seed are not satisfactory and may lead to constipation or vitamin deficiencies.

The supplement of fresh greens and fruit is especially important to the guinea pig because it cannot manufacture vitamin C internally like most pets. Without a steady supply of vitamin C in the form of cabbage or other greens, the guinea pig will develop scurvy, a disease that once plagued sailors on long ocean voyages. Signs of scurvy in a guinea pig include bleeding gums, unsteady gait, and reluctance to walk.

Besides the proper food, your hamster or guinea pig will need a constant supply of clean, fresh water. A hanging water bottle that dispenses only a drop or two at a time is a good investment. Many rodents do not drink well from a dish — and may catch pneumonia from walking through it.

When you choose housing for these pets, remember that guinea pigs and hamsters are strong for their size. Provide a latched doorway or a top heavy enough to prevent the peg from nudging it off. Many rodents, especially hamsters, escape from converted aquariums by climbing up water bottles or large exercise wheels.

All rodent cages should be lined with absorbent materials like wood shavings or crushed corncocks. These materials absorb surplus moisture and aid in keeping the pet warm and dry.

Because a rodent's teeth grow throughout its lifetime, short lengths of hard wood should always be in the cage for your pet to gnaw on. If you do not allow your pet to wear down its teeth, the teeth may overlap and cause difficulty in eating. It is not uncommon for hamsters to gnaw on cage bars in a determined effort to keep their teeth at the proper length.

Despite their sharp front teeth, guinea pigs and hamsters rarely bite and are rapidly tamed by frequent handling. Since hamsters are small, children must be taught how to pick them up properly. The safest way to pick up a hamster is to treat it like a ball. Put your palm over its back and curl your fingers softly about the body. A guinea pig can be carried with one hand under the stomach and the other hand supporting the hind legs.

Rodents have few medical problems when the basic needs of food, water, and proper housing are filled. However, because their normal life span is so short, three to four years at most, it is best to buy a young animal — about eight weeks old — if you desire one for a pet.

Tax hints

Timing: income property owner

By The California Society of Certified Public Accountants

Personal property having a useful life of six years or more used in connection with an individual's rental property may qualify for first-year bonus depreciation in addition to any regular depreciation (straight-line or rapid) taken for the year on your personal federal income tax return.

Another important consideration is whether to make needed repair now or in the new year. The cash basis, calendar year taxpayer has an additional planning tool. The taxpayer can defer payment of December bills until January if the tax benefit will be greater in the subsequent year ... and vice versa.

the first $10,000 of cost ($20,000 on a joint return).

A taxpayer should, therefore, consider splitting purchases between 1976 and 1977 so that $10,000 of personal property ($20,000 on a joint return) falls in each year.

Personal property includes assets such as furniture, draperies and appliances.

The maximum additional depreciation for an individual is 20 per cent of

State helps victims

By Terry Goggin
State Assemblyman
66th District

Sometimes the criminal justice system appears lopsided, greatly concerned with the rights of suspected lawbreakers, while not caring at all about their victims.

But the state legislature demonstrated its concern a decade ago when lawmakers enacted a program to financially aid innocent Californians who are hurt and the families of those killed when crimes are committed. Also covered are good Samaritans who are injured while attempting to prevent illegal acts.

Since 1967 the state has paid more than $800 million to thousands of crime victims and their dependents. If victims die as a result of injuries suffered during the commission of a crime, their needy dependents can collect the aid.

Victims of violent crimes who have suffered serious financial losses as a result of their injuries must apply for compensation to the state Board of Control within the year following the incident. Their actual losses and the result of the attorney general's review of the crime are then examined at a hearing.

Provided they have cooperated with local law enforcement agencies in apprehending and convicting any criminals involved, did not contribute to their own injuries, and can prove they will suffer serious financial hardship without the aid, victims' claims will then be approved.

Awards may include up to $10,000 for loss of wages stemming directly from the victim's injury, up to $10,000 for medical expenses, and no more than $3,000 for retraining or employment-related rehabilitation.

As a result of stepped-up publicity mandated by the legislature — law enforcement officers are required to inform crime victims of the program, and posters in hospital emergency rooms now spell out application procedures — more people than ever are seeking compensation.

(Terry Goggin, Democrat, was reelected in November to the 66th Assembly District, which includes Alta Loma and Cucamonga.)

SCAG asks for input

Only a few days remain before the public record closes on the 1977 Draft Regional Transportation Plan developed by the Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG).

Friday is the deadline for public comments on such proposals as a 2-cent gas tax increase, high-speed, bus-on-freeway program and the use of preferential lanes for buses and carpools, explained SCAG President Rosanna Scott, Riverside city councilwoman.

"But, citizens are also encouraged to submit their ideas on anything related to improving transportation," she added.

Hundreds of local organizations and citizens have already presented their views at a recent series of workshops held throughout the six-county region and a recent day-long public hearing at the Los Angeles Convention Center.

Citizens interested in "going on the record" should address their comments to: SCAG Community Relations Office, 600 S. Commonwealth Ave., Suite 1000, Los Angeles 90005.

Assemblymen rated on 'independence'

Local assemblymen came out on opposite ends of the California Journal's rating of "independent" legislators.

Bill McVittie (D-65) was rated the sixth most independent Democrat while Terry Goggin (D-66) was among the four Democrats who voted with the party majority most often.

The rating was based on 83 votes cast in 1976 "in which there were clear majority and minority positions within each party," according to the January 1977 issue of the California Journal, a periodical on state government and politics.

McVittie, who represents Upland, Ontario, Montclair, Chino and the Red Hill section of the tricommunity, voted independently 34 per cent — more than a third — of the time.

Goggin, who represents Alta Loma, Etiwanda and the majority of Cucamonga, broke with the Democratic majority only 4 per cent of the time.

In response to the rating McVittie commented, "I've tried to place the interest and welfare of my district above narrow partisan concerns. The problems of the 65th District are real and much too important to be decided on the basis of party loyalty."

Goggin did not respond to several telephone calls asking his comments on the rating.

The journal reports, "In almost all cases, Democrats with high independence ratings are conservative" and adds "The statistics offer proof of the long-held claim that no individual lawmaker need be loyal to his or her party when that party controls a political entity by an overwhelming margin."

Cookies from abroad

Favorite imports

Christmas traditions and nostalgic memories are made of many things. Among these are cookies which have been inspired by many countries that have lent their particular brand of magic to holiday goodies.

If you're casting about for new inspiration in the cookie department, then consider French Chocolate Orange Bon Bons, little balls of flavorful dough, dipped in egg white and chopped nuts. It's a recipe you'll like for taste and quantity (six dozen).

From Sweden comes Spritz pressed into fragile "S" shapes, as buttery, delicious and dainty as you could wish in a true Yule cookie. They're fun to make when the dough is just right, pliable rather than crumbly, to give a short and tender cookie. It is best not to soften butter before creaming but rather to cut it up and place in the mixing bowl while you get the other ingredients ready. Also, make certain the oven is preheated to prevent dough from spreading enough to lose the attractive shape.

Scotch Shortbread is noted for its tender texture and purity of flavor which comes from the butter. Be sure to let shortbread ripen so that butter flavor develops fully. This is a rolled cookie, for the sake of contrast, cut in triangles, sprinkled festively with colored sugars and almonds.

French Chocolate Orange Bon Bons
1 cup (2 sticks) butter
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg yolk
2 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 cup cocoa
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chopped candied orange peel
1 egg white, slightly beaten

1 cup chopped nuts
Cream butter; gradually add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Beat in vanilla and egg yolk. Combine flour, cocoa and salt; blend into creamed mixture. Stir in orange peel. Shape tablespoonfuls of dough into small balls. Dip top of each ball into egg white and then into nuts. Place balls, nut side up, on lightly buttered cookie sheets. Bake in preheated 350 degree F. oven 8 to 10 minutes. Remove to wire racks to cool. Yield: about 7 dozen.

Do not chill dough. Use at room temperature. If dough becomes too soft, add 1 or 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour.

Swedish Spritz
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup (2 sticks) butter
1 egg
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
2-1/3 cups all-purpose flour

Fill a cookie press with dough. Using the star attachment, form "S" shapes on cookie sheets.

Bake in preheated 350

degree F. oven 8 to 10 minutes. Remove to wire racks to cool. Yield: about 7 dozen.

Cream butter; gradually add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Add extracts. Combine flour and salt, blend into creamed mixture. Roll out dough to 1/2-inch thickness on lightly floured surface to form a 14 x 8-inch rectangle. Cut into 2-inch squares. Cut each square in half diagonally.

Brush lightly with beaten egg; sprinkle half of cookies with red sugar crystals and half with green sugar crystals. Sprinkle with almonds, pressing lightly into dough. Bake on cookie sheet in preheated 300 degree F. oven 25 to 30 minutes. Yield: 56.

Additives in our lifetime

Pepper on your eggs. Cinnamon and apples. Onion in stewed tomatoes. They're all additives. Nature didn't put them there; man did.

In all of today's controversy over additives in manufactured food products, it's important to keep a clear perspective. Technically speaking, anytime we add anything to a food, the addition is an additive. Even if it means combining two or more completely natural products.

The American Spice

Trade Association points out that without additives

we wouldn't have apple pie, or ice cream to top it. Or meat loaf, or mashed potatoes. Or turkey stuffing. Or gravy. Or any of thousands of other recipe foods in which ingredients are combined to create appetizing dishes.

On an ingredients statement, the word "spices" or any individual spice by name is required to mean a seasoning derived from the natural plant product. Otherwise, the term "artificial flavor" must be used.

Seafood stew

Louisiana Yam Seafood Stew

2 cans (16 or 17-ounces) each yams

2 tablespoons olive oil

1/2 cup chopped onion

1/2 cup chopped green pepper

1/2 cup chopped celery

1 large garlic clove, crushed

1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes

1 package (16 ounces) frozen shelled and deveined shrimp*

2 cans (8 ounces each) minced clams, undrained

1 can (6 1/2- or 7 ounces) tuna, drained

1 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon thyme leaves, crushed

Yams mean happy eating to Louisianans and they are served in many ways. For a change, try yams in a seafood stew.

1/8 teaspoon white pepper
Drain yams reserving 1 cup yam syrup. In a Dutch oven or large saucepot, heat oil. Add onion, green pepper, celery and garlic. Sauté over medium heat, stirring occasionally until onion is tender, about 5 minutes. Add tomatoes and reserved yam syrup; heat to boiling. Reduce heat to low; cover and simmer 15 minutes. Add shrimp, clams, tuna, salt, thyme and white pepper. Heat to boiling. Boil uncovered, stirring constantly, until shrimp turn pink, about 2 minutes. Add drained yams and heat until yams are hot, carefully stirring mixture, about 5 minutes. Serve immediately in soup bowls. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

* Or, substitute for shrimp 1 package (16 ounces) frozen fish fillets, thawed, drained and cut into 2-inch pieces.)

Feeding family on budget

It's nothing new. People have always looked for the best ways to feed a family on a budget. The smaller the budget, the harder one must look! Many of us have recently become aware that we really do need to devise new ways to serve the less expensive foods.

Chicken Tandoori
1 cup each chopped onions and celery
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 medium apples, cored and diced
2 cups cooked chicken, in large pieces
2 cups hot cooked rice
1 tablespoon curry powder
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon seasoned pepper
1 can (10-3/4 oz.) condensed cream of chicken soup
1/2 cup sour cream or yogurt
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese

Saute onions and celery in butter until tender crisp. Add apples, chicken, rice, and seasonings. Stir in soup and sour cream. Turn into a greased shallow 2-quart casserole. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings. Each serving provides: 364 calories, 2 1/2 meat exchanges, 1 bread exchange, 2 fat exchanges and 2 fruit exchanges.

Lo-cal dressing

One cup of plain yogurt, fork blended with 1 1/2 teaspoons of ranch dressing mix for salads and 2 tablespoons of grated Parmesan cheese makes a delightful accompaniment for green salads. As a dressing it has fewer calories than most others since yogurt contains about nine (calories) per tablespoons as compared with commercial low - calorie dressings that contain from 16 to 25.
